Courtesy Warnings Issued to Drivers Nearing Speed Zone

Courtesy warnings were issued by city police Saturday night to motorists approaching the 50-mile-an-hour speed limit zone on U.S.-90, inside the city limits, which was being patrolled at the same time by Mississippi State Highway Patrol radar-equipped cars.

"No mention of the placement of the radar cars farther down the highway was made. Motorists simply were cautioned that they were coming from a 50-mile speed limit zone to a 50-mile speed limit zone," said members of the City Commission, Mayor John A. Scalfie and Commissioners Cyril Glover and Warren Traub.

The radar equipped cars have been placed within the city limits several times during the last several weeks.

Motorists have complained in the past, Mayor Scalfie said, that the 50-mile speed limit zone amounted to a "speed trap" since the two-lane highway approaching the city limits carries a 60-mile-an-hour speed limit and the four-lane, divided highway within the city limits carries a 50-mile-an-hour speed limit.

The four highway patrol cars left the highway shortly after the city police cars began to issue warnings.

City officials also contacted Tom Scarborough, state highway patrol commissioner, at Jackson. He said that it is the policy of the highway patrol cars not to run radar in restricted zones.

W. E. Jacobs, inspector of the eighth district, stationed at the state highway patrol substation at Gulfport, said, "I see no reason for resentment toward highway patrol policing of a U.S. highway."

Mrs. Hubbard, Supervisor's Mother, Dies

Mrs. Mary Cecelia Carroll Hubbard, 84-year-old mother of Beat Five Supervisor R. G. Hubbard Jr., died at 2:45 p.m. Monday in Hancock County Hospital after a long illness.

Mrs. Hubbard, who had lived on Nicholson Ave., Waveland, had been taken to the hospital about 10 days ago for treatment after her illness became critical.

Born Jan. 27, 1874, at New Orleans, she was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Carroll. Her marriage to R. G. Hubbard Sr., a former New Orleans newspaperman, was in 1897. Mr. Hubbard died in 1930. The couple had moved to Waveland about 52 years ago.

Besides Supervisor Hubbard, she is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Clarence Hava and Mrs. J. H. Mollere, both of Waveland, and Mrs. W. J. Turner of Meridian; 15 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren. One daughter, Mrs. J. D. Horlock Sr. of Waveland; a son, Elbert Hubbard, and a foster son, Charles Jensen, have died.

Funeral services were at 8:45 a. m. Wednesday in the Fafey funeral home and requiem mass was at 9 in Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church. The Rev. Martin Moloney officiated. Burial was in St. Roch's Cemetery, New Orleans.

CORNELIUS K. HERLIHY

Herlihy To Run For Mayor Of Waveland

Cornelius K. Herlihy, owner of Herlihy Mercantile Store at Waveland, has announced his candidacy for the office of mayor of Waveland. He will run in the Democratic primary election Nov. 4.

The candidate, who is 53 and has lived most of his life at Waveland, is a 1922 graduate of St. Stanislaus school and a 1926 graduate of Loyola University. He has operated the Mercantile Store since 1929 and has been a member of the Waveland Town Council since 1956.

"I am confident," Mr. Herlihy said, "that with this educational and business background, that I can fill this position of honor and trust, as there is very little difference in the operation of a private business and a municipality."

Sheriff, Deputies Probe Thefts, Three Break-ins

Sheriff Sylvan Lader reports the theft of a 14-foot Bowman and a 35-horsepower Johnson motor, both docked by the Jordan River home of Col. Alfred F. McCaleb on N. Beach Blvd.

The theft occurred between 4 p.m. Saturday and 9 a.m. Sunday, the sheriff said. The hull is described as having a natural wood finished inside, a green bottom and white sides. It contained two seat cushions, a pair of oars, a pair of water skis, a tool box and a six-gallon gasoline tank.

A 14-foot cypress skiff, believed stolen at the same time, was found at 6 a.m. Monday by Victor Colson. The skiff, owned by John Mollere of Dunbar Ave., was tied near the McCaleb hull. Sheriff Lader said it was found about 1000 feet from the spot where it had been docked.

Detainers were issued this week for two men, one charged and one convicted of passing back checks in Hancock County.

Charles Hunt Fowler was sentenced by the U. S. District Court at Tallahassee, Fla., to 10 years' imprisonment for passing bad checks. He had been wanted by the FBI on several counts and had been sought by Hancock County sheriff's department for cashing a $52 fraudulent check at O'Toole's Service Station, Kila.

Vernon James Johnson was captured Sept. 10 by New Orleans FBI agents and is charged with passing several bad checks, including one to John Daurio, proprietor of a grill and novelty shop on U.S.-90.

Three break-ins, two of which also involved thefts, were investigated this week. "We have suspects but it is going to be difficult to solve these cases since they all involve homes which were occupied at the time of the break-ins, making it impossible for us even to get a definite clue," Sheriff Lader said.

First Steps Taken To Ease Crowding Of City's Schools

Superintendent Joe D. McCullough has received a go-ahead to gather information and present preliminary plans for three projects designed to alleviate Bay St. Louis' critical school crowding situation.

The projects, estimated to cost $240,000, were discussed at a special meeting of the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District board of trustees and city officials Sept. 18 in Mr. McCullough's office.

They are:

A 16-room elementary school for white students on the 29-acre Dunbar Ave. property owned by the school system.

A three-room addition to Valena C. Jones School for Negro students.

A possible commercial shop addition to Bay High School.

Mr. McCullough reminded board members that the wooden two room Webb School and the one-room Taylor School were condemned as fire hazards three years ago by the state department of education. The proposed construction would make possible the vacating of these schools.

He added that four Bay High School classrooms now are housing elementary students. If these students and the ones in the six-room elementary Ingram School could be moved to the proposed building the entire Bay High School building and the Ingram School could be used exclusively for high school students. The superintendent said this would end the serious overcrowding of white high school students.

The proposed three-room addition to Valena C. Jones School would make possible the use of the library as such, the superintendent said, explaining that presently crowded conditions made it necessary to use that room as a classroom.

In elaborating on the crisis nature of the present overcrowded situation, Mr. McCullough said that in Bay High School it was necessary to use the gymnasium and auditorium and music room as classrooms.

Members agreed to consider the selection of an architect for the proposed additions at the next special meeting.

Board member Maurice Artigues asked if it would be possible to approach more than one architect in regard to estimated cost of construction.

Mayor John Scalfie emphasized the belief that such procedure would be against the ethics of the architectural profession.

Charles L. Proffer, Gulfport architect and designer of the Kila Consolidated School now under construction, concurred with Mr. Scalfie's statement and outlined state requirements for a school building architect. He further suggested that the board hire an architect who has worked before on state educational construction.

Mr. Artigues said he was not thinking only of the fee involved and that he certainly did not want a "shyster" architect.

Dr. W. P. Henderson, board member, said that Mr. McCullough obviously had had a reason for bringing Mr. Proffer here and suggested that the board listen to any plans the Gulfport architect might have brought to the meeting.

Mr. Proffer said he had developed preliminary plans and emphasized his vital interest in the success of the Bay St. Louis school construction program. However, he added, he felt that because of the lateness of the hour it would be unfair to both the audience and to himself to go into them during this meeting.

The board agreed that the next step in the construction proceedings must be the selection of an architect. Mr. Proffer assured members it would be ethical to interview prospective architects in regard to their work backgrounds.

Fred L. Wagner, New Orleans architect, earlier had spoken to the board on the subject of additional school facilities and it was agreed that both he and Mr. Proffer should be interviewed before a decision was made.

The board will hold a special meeting at 7:30 tonight at the high school for the purpose of further discussing the selection of an architect.

Then she will proceed to Waveland where arrival is scheduled for 11:40 a.m.

Highlight of her tour will be a banquet to be given that night by the Coast Municipal Assn. City and county officials from Hancock, Harrison and Jackson Counties will be invited to the banquet.

"We hope that merchants and schools will suspend operations between 11 a.m. and noon in order that Mississippi's Miss America may have a full welcome," Mayor Scalfie added.

Beer, soft drinks, playing cards and frozen TV dinners were taken between Sept. 17 and Saturday from the 169 Felicite St. home of B. J. Vennura, City Police Chief Alcide Sanders, City Police Officer Jack Lader and Sheriff Lader were investigating officers.

A cut bedroom screen and a broken window were discovered Sunday in the home of Fred Twickler of 161 Felicite St. The break-in, investigated by the sheriff, is believed to have occurred between 10 p.m. Saturday and 6 a.m. Sunday.

Thieves took a wheel and tire from a car parked on Beat 5 Supervisor R. G. Hubbard Jr. of Waveland and replaced it with old ones. The theft, which occurred the morning of Sept. 18, was investigated by Sheriff Lader and Deputies Carl Garcia and Raoul Telhard.

John Rutherford Jr. has been appointed chairman of the state Americanism council of the Mississippi Department of the American Legion to direct major programs for the 1958-59 year.

Department Commander Gary Moore listed Mr. Rutherford among the four coast men named to committees.

Mr. Rutherford, a member of Clement R. Bontemps Post 109, has been prominent in American Legion activities locally, in the district and in state affairs.

The board will hold a special meeting at 7:30 tonight at the high school for the purpose of further discussing the selection of an architect.

Window in Christ Church Honors Rev. Warwick Aiken

A service for the dedication of a window in honor of the Rev. Warwick Aiken will be held in Christ Episcopal church at 11 a.m. Sunday.

The Rev. Charles R. Johnson, rector, said the window, which holds a likeness of the Good Shepherd, was placed in the church as a tribute to the Rev. Mr. Aiken who was minister in charge of Christ Church before the church became a parish.

"During the Rev. Mr. Aiken's service to the mission of Christ Church, he became completely selfless in his devotion," the Rev. Mr. Johnson continued.

"It is in thanking for his recovery that the members of the parish at that time contributed to the window fund. Before the project was completed, the Rev. Mr. Aiken was called to Christ Church at Vicksburg.

The Rev. Mr. Johnson also explained that two years passed before a regular service was assigned to Christ Church and in the interim the church was served by lay leaders assisted by the Rev. Mr. Aiken.

The theme of the window was chosen by members of the parish who felt that the Rev. Mr. Aiken's life was a true example of the Good Shepherd.

A dedication service of the Rev. Mr. Aiken window will be held in the Parish House immediately after the dedication service.

National Newspaper Week

The week of Oct. 1 through Oct. 8 is National Newspaper Week. To observe it, more than 10,000 weekly and daily newspapers throughout the United States join hands to promote a better understanding of newspapers and the role they play in preserving the great American way of life which we cherish.

Inauguration of the 1958 observance of the week will take place at the world's oldest school of journalism at the University of Missouri. The school at Columbia, Mo., was selected as the site for start of the observance to commemorate the 50th anniversary of its founding as the first fully organized school for training newspaper workers.

Walter Williams, dean of the school from its founding in 1908 until 1935, is the author of the Journalist's Creed, universally accepted by the profession as reflecting the ideals and standards which American newspapers strive to achieve. This is the creed:

I believe in the profession of journalism.

I believe that the public journal is a public trust; that all connected with it are, to the full measure of their responsibility, trustees for the public; that acceptance of a lesser service than the public service is betrayal of this trust.

I believe that clear thinking and clear statement, accuracy, and fairness, are fundamental to good journalism.

I believe that a journalist should write only what he holds in his heart to be true.

I believe that suppression of the news, for any consideration other than the welfare of society is indefensible.

I believe that no one should write as a journalist what he would not say as a gentleman; that bribery by one's own pocketbook is as much to be avoided as bribery by the pocketbook of another; that individual responsibility may not be escaped by pleading another's instructions or another's dividends.

I believe that advertising, news and editorial columns should alike serve the best interests of readers; that a single standard of helpful truth and cleanness should prevail for all; that the supreme test of good journalism is the measure of its public service.

I believe that the journalism which succeeds best—and best deserves success—fears God and honors man; is stoutly independent, unmoved by pride or opinion or greed of power, constructive, tolerant but never careless, self-controlled, patient, always respectful of its readers but always unafraid, is quickly indignant at injustice; is unswayed by the appeal of privilege or the clamor of the mob; seeks to give every man a chance, and, as far as law and honest wage and recognition of human brotherhood can make it so, an equal chance; is profoundly patriotic while sincerely promoting international good will and cementing world comradeship; is a journalism of humanity, of and for today's world.

Suggestions Are Made For Auto License Buyers

Suggestions to motor vehicle owners applying for their 1959 auto tags have been issued by H. P. Taylor, secretary of the State Tax Commission. He said that the commission will accept applications for 1959 tags on Oct. 1, 1958, and that the application must be filed with the sheriff's office in the county where the vehicle is registered. The application must be filed by the owner of the vehicle, or by a person acting on his behalf. The application must be filed by the owner of the vehicle, or by a person acting on his behalf. The application must be filed by the owner of the vehicle, or by a person acting on his behalf.

Any special equipment attached to the vehicle, which adds to the utility of such vehicle, must be shown in the application. Most of the automobile dealers in the state have agreed to cooperate in assisting the owner in ascertaining the basic information required in the application. Operation of an improperly tagged vehicle constitutes a misdemeanor, and for each such illegal operation of a vehicle, the operator is subject to a fine.

First Line of Defense

Civil Defense Officials Hear Discussion of Survival Plans

Eight Hancock County officials attended a six-county district civil defense meeting Sept. 18 in the Hotel Martham at Gulfport.

Representing the county at the meeting were Kenneth R. Whitfield, county civil defense director; Mayor John A. Scaffide, City Commissioners Cyril Glover and Warren Traub; Mrs. Oleigh M. Delph, executive secretary, Hancock County chapter, American Red Cross; K. W. Peppers, vice chairman, county chapter, American Red Cross; James A. Fillingame, county chairman, first aid and water safety division, American Red Cross, and Waveland Mayor Garfield Ladner.

Topic of discussion was Mississippi's plan for survival in the event of a nuclear attack.

The plan shows how the state would care for an estimated 400,000 evacuees from Mississippi target cities, Gulfport, Jackson, Greenville and Columbus, and 700,000 evacuees from New Orleans, Memphis, Baton Rouge and Mobile.

Civil defense officials said Harrison County would be evacuated in event of nuclear attack since Gulfport is a target city while Jackson County, because of Pascagoula's shipyards, also might have to be evacuated. The plan also outlines protective measures against radioactive fallout and the set up of organizations needed from the state to local levels.

George County, according to the proposal, would receive 10,000 evacuees from Gulfport; Pearl River County would receive 20,000 from New Orleans and 10,000 from Gulfport; Stone County, 10,000 from Gulfport, while Hancock County would be prepared to assist in the Gulfport area.

"Should this country be subjected to atomic or hydrogen bomb attack," said Director Hendrix A. Dawson of Jackson commented, "we believe this plan will make it possible to provide facilities for receiving and caring for hundreds of thousands of refugees from target cities."

Traffic control of the vast exodus of refugees would be handled by units of the state highway patrol.

The first warning of an impending hostile attack would come through the NAWAS—the National Warning System—headquartered at Colorado Springs, Colo., Col. Justin Courtenay, communications staff planner, told the assembly.

Col. Courtenay said the network has 276 communications points across the nation, including five in Mississippi. One of the state's communication points is located at the District Eight highway patrol substation in Gulfport.

Mississippi, Col. Courtenay said, has a warning system of its own through the highway patrol communications network.

"By means of these networks," he explained, "all states, counties and cities can be alerted in a matter of seconds."

Supply Planner Dexter W. Lee said once the evacuation had been accomplished, the problem of feeding and caring for the refugees would be of paramount importance.

He estimated Mississippi has sufficient processed and unprocessed foodstuffs in wholesale and retail warehouses to feed the refugees for a period of 90 days.

OVER AGE 65

Blue Cross-Blue Shield Membership Now Available

This new Blue Cross-Blue Shield senior citizens program marks another milestone in eleven years of enlightened leadership in the preventive health care field of the State of Mississippi. This leadership is provided by the Blue Cross-Blue Shield Board of Directors which is composed of Mississippians representing the medical, public, hospitals and physicians. These citizens are the governing body and contribute their time, experience, and guidance as a public service, without pay.

The very cornerstone of Blue Cross-Blue Shield is its community non-profit character. It does not single out the good risks. It seeks to cover the entire community. Membership is not controlled because of advancing age, an unfortunate illness, necessary frequent hospitalizations or for the use of medical services.

Those who believe in the American free enterprise system have every right to expect Blue Cross-Blue Shield to help solve the major economic problems associated with hospitalization and surgical care. With the firm belief that those past retirement age are most in need of such care, Blue Cross-Blue Shield has given form and careful consideration to this problem. It is fitting that Blue Cross-Blue Shield should be the first in Mississippi to offer a good answer to the problem. The answer is the "over age 65" program.

ASC Shares Planting Cost Of Seedlings

The Hancock County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee office is taking requests from farmers for cost-sharing for the planting of pine seedlings under the 1959 agricultural conservation program, Fitzhugh Lee, chairman of the ASC county committee, said today.

Under the 1959 program, the payment rate for planting pine seedlings is $7.50 a thousand if planted with a machine and $9.50 a thousand if planted by hand. An average of 1,000 trees is planted to an acre. Trees can be planted under the agricultural conservation program on virtually any type land - land that now produces little or nothing, land that is not suitable to grow crops, steep and eroded land or "cut-over" type land.

Hancock County farmers are reminded that the Mississippi Forestry Commission has set Oct. 15 as the final date for filing requests for tree seedlings. Applications for seedlings may be filed with the county agent, the SCS technician or the area forester. Seedlings are grown and delivered to the county each year by the Mississippi Forestry Commission. When a request for the trees is executed, those farmers who desire ACP cost-sharing for planting the trees should also visit the ASC county office in the Agricultural Building and file a request for assistance.

Mr. Lee said farmers must contact the ASC county office and file a request for cost-sharing before the trees are planted if they expect to receive ACP cost-sharing. No cost-sharing can be approved for requests filed after the trees or seedlings have been planted.

County of Hancock, in said State, on the Fourth Monday of October A. D. 1958 to defend the suit No. 7983 in said Court of LEWIS SWARTZENDRUBER.

Reception Honors Mrs. Whitfield

Mrs. Harold B. Weston selected a pink theme for the large reception and tea she gave in honor of Mrs. William Whitfield, a recent bride, at her home on S. Beach Blvd. Friday afternoon.

Arrangements of pink blossoms and greenery were used throughout the spacious reception hall, the living room, the dining room and rear porch. The hostess received her guests at the door and chose for the occasion an afternoon frock of pale grey cotton trimmed at the rounded neckline with a wide band of white embroidered organza.

Greeting the guests in the hall of the home were Mrs. Sam Whitfield, the honoree, and her mother, Mrs. Henry P. J. L'heroux of Baton Rouge. Mrs. Sam Whitfield wore a black silk crepe "after five" model made on simple lines; Mrs. William Whitfield chose silk shantung in black with matching accessories, and Mrs. L'heroux wore a black crepe gown. The hostess presented to the honoree a corsage bouquet of pink sweetheart roses and corsages of pink feathered carnations to Mrs. Sam Whitfield and Mrs. L'heroux.

In the dining room, the serving table was covered with a handsome white cutwork cloth and was centered with a large arrangement of pale pink asters and Rose of Montana. Pink tapers in crystal candelabra flanked the centerpiece and a silver coffee service was placed at one end.

A similar decor was used on the serving table on the porch where strawberry punch was served from a crystal punch bowl. About 150 guests called during the afternoon to meet the young bride.

"Canada has a low incidence of divorce and juvenile delinquency," Mrs. McDonald pointed out as an illustration of problems of countries of the North American continent and methods of meeting pressing problems.

Both she and Mrs. Robin attended the Home Mission Course offered to coast churchwomen in Biloxi recently.

Mrs. McDonald issued an invitation to women of the community who are not members of the three circles to attend the meetings if they are interested in the study course.

"There is no obligation for other women who would like to hear the programs and we would be happy to have them," she added.

Through Self-Regulation representatives, the Foundation maintains regular contact with each licensed beer retailer to aid and advise in maintaining highest operating standards. The Foundation also urges strict enforcement of Mississippi laws.

Mississippi's tax on beer is one of the highest in the nation. Largely through increased public acceptance of this light, bright beverage of moderation, legally-regulated beer still brings in about $4 million a year in taxes, an important source of funds for Old Age pensions, schools and other government functions.

Chapter VIII in the Borden Quality Story

Cindy finds out why Borden's is the best-tasting milk!

"I know where a real cold room is. At the Borden plant. The nice Borden man told me milk tastes better when it's kept real cold. I took my ear muffs and gloves 'cause I had to help push things. I simply love Borden's Milk."

Here in Bay St. Louis...

The best-tasting milk is Borden's! It's rich and creamy—thanks to a quality control program that starts with the fine dairy herds on farms in this area and doesn't end until the pure, fresh milk reaches your family. No wonder so many families drink Borden's—the best-tasting milk in town!
